Our climate is changing rapidly. We are seeing major shifts in technology and in the make-up of our population. We face risks from growing inequalities, long-running conflicts and new forms of violence. Managing these trends will require cooperation across borders, sectors and generations; So will do achieving our shared vision for a safer, fairer and more sustainable world.

To mark its 75th anniversary and beyond, the United Nations is launching a global conversation on the role of international cooperation in building the future we want. If you did not take the 1-minute survey yet, Shape Your Future now.

Entreps organises the 5th Global Entreps Awards in Seville (Spain) on 26th June 2020, exactly the day when 75th Anniversary years ago the foundational Charter of the United Nations was signed in San Francisco, in 1945. For that reason, Entreps and the United Nations will be performing together in Seville, also co-organising an International 126 additional recognitions, one per country participating, will be granted.

FREE SPEECH, CHAPTER 31

With this award we want to honor special public figures, whose performance towards achieving the goals of this chapter should receive recognition.

A prime example of an individual we find commendable regarding the use of Free Speech is Greta Thunberg, who has used her platform to raise awareness about climate change, appealing to a broad public ranging from young people in social media to political leaders in world summits. If you know any project, initiative or policy deserving the Award on this particular category, reach them out to apply now.

Therefore, Entreps appreciates the active work of those who have a significant impact in the implementation of these targets, which include the Sustainable Development Goals, established in 2015 by the United Nations, as well as more objectives which contribute to a more sustainable world. This is why the role of the Global Jurors specialists able to highlight the projects that they believe deserve to be recognized, is crucial.

Being a Global Juror just takes an hour per year from you, giving you private access to an online platform to nominate and vote, plus preferential access to the Congress and Awards Gala.

FREE SPEECH AS A KEY FOR A SUSTAINABLE COMMUNITY

As said by Gwen Lister on the 25th anniversary of the Windhoek Declaration, the right to free speech and the media must be underpinned by the right of access to information. These are non-negotiables for the realization of the global Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Knowledge and information are key to hopes of ending poverty and inequality in the world.

For democracy to succeed, it must be based on a human rights framework that includes the rights to free speech and information, which in turn facilitate others, such as the rights to education and healthcare, as ignorance adds to the already heavy burden of physical deprivation which the poor have to bear. Rather than restricting the right of access to information, government exists in order to help protect such rights<sup>1</sup>.
